SWAN SCHOOL

Creative Independent Education

2010-2011 PARENT SERVICE AGREEMENT

Student(s) Name(s): _____

Parental commitment at Swan School is two-fold: a financial commitment and a volunteer service commitment. Parents accept responsibility for the cost of tuition for the current year as stated in the Enrollment Contract. The school is committed to keeping these costs as low as possible and will continue to seek support from outside sources to help defray direct costs to parents. Swan School is not subsidized by any organization, and the costs of operating the school are not fully covered by tuition. Therefore, we rely on your generosity—of both time and financial support for our various fundraisers—to help keep tuition levels down. Parent volunteer hours worked during the year can save the school thousands of dollars in expenses which otherwise would be reflected in higher tuition costs.

We realize that time constraints can limit your availability for service, and therefore also offer the option of “buying out your time.”

Your service commitment is a minimum of 4 hours per month, or 40 hours over the course of the school year, per family. Each hour completed in volunteer service is worth $25. You can fulfill your service obligation in hours, in money, or a combination of both.

If you opt for a complete buy out of your hours, your total financial obligation is $1000 for the year.

Your monthly tuition invoice will reflect a running total of your volunteer hours worked thus far.

Your family’s volunteer hours can be fulfilled by you, by grandparents, family friends, etc. Please be sure to record all hours in the Volunteer Hours Record folder in the office.

I agree to commit an average of 4 hours per month, or 40 hours over the course of the school year in volunteer time, or pay $25/hour for each hour not worked. I understand that my final invoice of the year will include the balance of any unworked hours.
